Marine Corps General Dies To Save Peasant Woman

ROBT. DUNLAP KILLED WHEN LAND SLIDES

Buried Under Tons of Dirt
at Tours, France—Body
Is Recovered Today
HERO OF WORLD WAR

Sent to France on Mission to Study at French
War College Recently

TOURS, France, May 20.—(UP)—Brigadier-General Robert H. Dunlap of the United States marine corps, a distinguished war hero, gave his life in France in an effort to save a French peasant woman trapped by a landslide.

Dunlap sprang from his wife's side in response to the woman's screams when the slide started. Her husband went with him. All three were buried under tons of earth and rock.

Rescue crews dug frantically in the rain all night. Today they brought the woman out alive, badly injured, and recovered the bodies of the two men.

TOURS, France, May 20.—(UP)—Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlap, here to study the French language, was striding with Mrs. Dunlap behind the Chateau La Fariniere at Cinq Mars yesterday when a woman's scream for help rang out.

They looked up and saw the 50-foot cliff a few yards away begin to crumble. Cut in the face of the cliff, after the fashion of this countryside, was a peasant's cave-like dwelling.

The general sprang to the woman's rescue without hesitation. Her husband followed a pace behind. Just as they entered the hut, hundreds of tons of rock and earth crashed down from the cliff-side, burying them deep.

Mrs. Dunlap ran frantically to the village for help. Word was flashed to Paris. The embassy sent its air attaché, Maj. Robert L. Walsh, by airplane to direct the rescue. The French army sent troops, tanks, electric floodlights and trucks.

The digging went on all through the day and all night, a dismal rain fell on the bleak, muddy scene. Mrs. Dunlap stood steadfastly by, refusing to move or seek shelter. At intervals she called her husband's name, but there was no reply.

The entire population of the countryside came to the scene and helped in the digging. Rescuers penetrated a deep crevice in the mass of earth but found no traces.

Part of the heavy rock had to be blasted, and as the tanks and trucks dragged away the debris, continued slight landslides hampered the operations and endangered the workers. Ten tons of rock were removed during the night, but dawn found them still digging.

Heavy army tanks rammed at the rocks and army engineers directed the laborers with pick and shovel. During the night there was temporary excitement when a dead horse, harnessed to a wagon, was uncovered, but there were no bodies.

At intervals, Walsh climbed across the rocks, shouting Dunlap's name. Mrs. Corcoran Thom, a cousin of Dunlap's, who had

Labor Union Turns Down Pay Increase

CHICAGO, May 20.—(UP)—Approximately 600 members of the Electrical Workers union turned down a raise with the announcement that "economic conditions will improve more rapidly if union labor does not ask for wage increases."

The workers, members of local 134 employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone company, voted against a wage increase of 25 cents a day as provided in the union contract. They urged union labor to adhere to a policy of demanding no raises and accepting no cuts.

FACTOR GIVES SELF UP TODAY TO OFFICIALS

Former "Jake the Barber"
Surrenders on Charges of Swindling

CHICAGO, May 20.—(UP)—John Factor, the former "Jake the Barber," surrendered to federal authorities today just as they had about given up hope of bringing him to justice on charges of swindling English investors of around $5,000,000 in fraudulent stock transactions.

Factor and his wife appeared at the United States marshal's and asked for a hearing on charges that the suave land and stock salesman is a fugitive from British justice.

Factor appeared confident that he would be able to obtain release on bond pending determination of England's claim for his extradition. He was not even accompanied by any of the numerous lawyers who have sought to negotiate with federal authorities for surrender terms.

Mrs. Factor, the former Rhella Cohen of the South Halsted street district where her husband was a cut rate barber 15 years ago before he ventured into high and risky finance, left her 18 room Gold Coast apartment to accompany him.

Factor was questioned in the marshal's office while Godfrey Haggard, British consul, was notified, and arrangements were made for the hearing before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Factor was forewarned with a statement in which he made a blanket denial of the stories about him, including charges that he was seeking to hide from Jack "Legs" Diamond, New York gangster, and from kidnapers, and had bargained with "Scarface Al" Capone to protect him.

"I have no statement to make at this time," Factor said, "except that all I have read about myself in the last few days is absolutely false. The statements about me and members of my family are absolutely without foundation."

"I know that upon a hearing I will vindicate myself of all charges. Until the opportunity to defend myself has been accorded me, I trust my friends will ignore all the charges."

SOVIETS CONSIDER NEW 5-YEAR PLAN

LONDON, May 20.—(UP)—A Moscow dispatch to the News Chronicle today said that the Soviet government had appointed a committee to draft a new five-year plan.

The new plan, to succeed the present scheme for industrialization of Russia, is to be operative during 1933 to 1937, inclusive.

The Russian authorities asserted under this new plan the Soviet union would "not only rival but surpass the United States," the dispatch reported.

PRICES SHOW DROP

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Another drop in wholesale prices was recorded in department of labor statistics for April. The 550 commodities listed by the department showed a net decrease of one and one-half per cent.

Petroleum products led the movement, with a drop of 4.4 per cent from the March figure, and showed a loss of 28.2 per cent as compared with April last year.

RALPH BARTON, FAMED ARTIST, ENDS HIS LIFE

Shoots Self to Death in His Lavish Apartment in New York City

NEW YORK, May 20.—(UP)—Ralph Barton, famed artist and caricaturist, shot himself to death today in his lavish Penthouse apartment in midtown Manhattan apparently as a result of unrequited love.

His brother, Homer Barton, actor and traveler, and a writer friend of the dead man, told the United Press that Barton had been deeply in love with Ruth Kresge of Detroit, heiress to the Kresge millions. The girl is engaged to Rufus Clark Caulkins, said to be a member of the diplomatic service at Riga.

Barton was wealthy and in good health. He was divorced last month from his fourth wife, Germaine Tallieffer, who charged him with desertion. He returned to this country recently.

Friends said he was once engaged to Miss Kresge and his brother said today "Ralph was a sensitive boy and took his love affairs seriously. Once he was in love with a girl he wanted to marry her."

The brilliant artist's body was discovered in his bedroom at about 10 a. m. by a maid. He was clad in pajamas and was lying on the bed with a small revolver at his side. A bullet wound in the right temple caused his death and an official police report said he had committed suicide.

His brother, who was informed of Ralph's death by the United Press, was overcome. He said that he had not seen Ralph for about two weeks when they went to the theater together, but that he knew about his brother's devotion to Miss Kresge.

Barton's third wife, Carlotta Konte Rey, is at present the wife of Eugene O'Neill, the famous playwright.

Barton was a native of Kansas City where his mother, Mrs. Josephine Barton, once noted as an artist in the west, still lives. His sister, Mrs. Ethel Klein, a pianist, also lives in Kansas City.

The artist would have been 49 years old next August. He had his early education in Kansas City and went to Paris as an art student. From the beginning his satirical work attracted attention and during the war he attained fame for his series of satirical sketches in "Puck."

In 1927 the French government made him a member of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his brilliant work.

In addition to drawing for various popular magazines, including "Liberty" and the "New Yorker," Barton did illustrations for books, notably Balzac's "Droll Stories," and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." He was the author of two books, "Science in Rhyme without Reason," and "God's Country."

Barton also did the backdrop caricatures for the musical show "Chauve Souris" in 1922.

Peach, Fig Group To Handle Sales Through Brokers

FRESNO, Calif., May 20.—(UP)—Starting July 1 the California Peach and Fig association will be divorced from the California Prune and Apricot association after a two years sales arrangement.

Announcement was made public here today by E. M. DePencier, sales and advertising manager, that the Peach and Fig co-operative would make its own broker and trade contacts. The new arrangement will be the first time in seven years the organization has worked alone. Before the 1922 crop year the Sunland Sales Co-operative association, which handled the peach and fig distribution, handled the peach and fig distribution.

DePencier said the peach and fig association contemplates using 120 domestic market brokers and 20 brokers in foreign markets.

Reno Uneasy As Federal Agents Busy

Night Club and Speakeasy
Operators Use Caution
and Watch Trains

RENO, Nev., May 20.—(UP)—A raid on Las Vegas liquor establishments by federal prohibition agents caused apprehension among Reno bootleggers, night club owners and speakeasy operators to-day, and resulted in the adoption of stringent regulations.

The "wide open" conditions that have prevailed here since the adoption of new gambling and divorce laws gave way to elaborate rules regarding visitors to Reno's "whoopie parlors." The resorts and night clubs carried full page advertisements in local newspapers, and then refused admittance to those unknown to doorknockers or without "membership cards."

Many of the places, including the famous Willows club, would serve only soft drinks. Their proprietors uneasy over the possibility that the prohibition agents may move from Las Vegas to Reno. Even the best customers are compelled to stand in line and submit to scrutiny through peepholes in doors.

Lookouts and spies have been stationed to watch every incoming train and airplane. They have been stationed in Truckee, Calif., to watch all automobiles passing through there and report on those bearing groups of men. These spies know the faces of dry officers.

If all these precautions fail and a raid is conducted, the word will be flashed to all other resorts in the city and they will be closed within a few minutes. There is no state liquor law and local police have no authority to arrest bootleggers.

A month ago several of the speakeasies were raided by a California "drying squad."

Chief of Police Jack Kirkley explained to the United Press how the warning system had failed to function.

"They got the high sign all right but were too greedy to sit tight for a night," he said. "They got just what they deserved."

Exiled Nobleman, Clerk In Carmel, Marries Heiress

CARMEL, Calif., May 20.—(UP)—The wedding of Mrs. Florence Sharon Johnstone, San Francisco society woman, and Ila Jadovsky, exiled Russian nobleman, in Salinas, Calif., 19 days ago was revealed to friends of the couple today.

The ceremony was performed by Judge Ernest Bodelia, of Salinas county. They returned to Carmel to make their home, where Mrs. Jadovsky has lived for several years and her husband clerked in a book store.

Mrs. Jadovsky was a grand niece of the late U. S. Senator William E. Sharon and heir to the $1,700,000 estate of her father, the late William E. Sharon.

CAPITAL CITY GANG WARFARE AGUTE TODAY

Policemen Arrested in Connection With Death of "Stool Pigeon"

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Gang war in the capital city today reached a stage more acute than ever before in its history, with two underworld slayings, arrest of a policeman in connection with one, and charges by a United States senator that police were acting in collusion with criminals.

Policeman Wallace J. Middleton was arrested at midnight last night in connection with the gang slaying Monday night of Jack Cunningham, a police informer.

Cunningham was shot five times from a passing automobile as he was entering his home near the White House. He died 55 minutes before the policeman's arrest.

Elmer "Bulldog" Sweeney walked into police headquarters yesterday and admitted killing Talley Day, police character and doorman at a notorious Maryland gambling resort Sunday night.

Police have been working on the theory that there was a direct connection between the slaying of Cunningham and Day and the liquor robbery at the Salvadorean legation recently, but apparently were without evidence to support their theory. Day's slaying in an alleged speakeasy was thought to be the result of an argument over division of spoils from the legation robbery, and the shooting of Cunningham was believed to be an act of revenge for information he gave police.

WASHINGTON LABOR OFFICIAL IS SHOT

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Frank Langdon, assistant secretary of the International Union of Operating Engineers, was shot through the head while dining in a restaurant near the American Federation of Labor headquarters today with Arthur M. Huddell, Chicago, president of the union, and another union man.

Langdon's assailant fired eight shots at the party of three labor men and then escaped. Only one shot according to police reports, took effect.

2 Rabies Deaths Held Unnecessary By Health Officer

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—(UP)—Deaths of two children from rabies in California within the last two weeks were branded as "unnecessary" here today by Dr. Giles S. Porter, state director of public health.

Instead, the guests who were invited to watch a ceremony under a bower of 5000 gardenias were told that it was an engagement party.

Engineer Killed As Fast Santa Fe Train Jumps Track

QUINLAN, Okla., May 20.—(UP)—The mangled body of James G. Talaferro, engineer of the Missionary, fast No. 22 Santa Fe passenger train eastbound from California to Kansas City was recovered from the wreckage of a baggage car today.

The engineer was fatally injured and several passengers were slightly bruised last night when the speeding train struck a soft roadbed two miles west of here and piled up in a narrow gorge.

The locomotive left the track and plowed 100 feet in the ground before turning on its side on the embankment. The refrigerator car next to the engine was a mass of splinters. The next three steel cars were jammed into a "Z" shape,

Meeting Is Held Here On Tuesday

Representatives of Various Groups Plan Information
Clearing House

ORGANIZATION of a super-water committee, composed of representatives of various organizations and groups throughout the county, as a clearing house for information on all phases of the water problem in Orange county was effected at a meeting in the Farm Bureau offices in Santa Ana last night.

Official representatives of the Farm Bureau, Associated Chambers of Commerce, Northern Orange County Fruit Exchange and Orange County Fruit Exchange, were present as well as unofficial representatives from other organizations. An invitation was extended to the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, Anaheim Union Water company and Yorba Linda Water company to become members of the group and send representatives to its meetings.

Necessity of prompt action on a flood control program for the county as a safety measure was stressed by several speakers. Others suggested that the group should attempt to secure additional information on some phases of the flood control problem, particularly with reference to silting effect on the Prado site.

E. E. Campbell, one of the Farm Bureau leaders, selected as chairman, declared that it should be the function of the group to consider the whole water problem of the county, including the Metropolitan Water district and sewerage reclamation as well as flood control, get information on these subjects and disseminate it so that the people of the county could act intelligently when the time came for action.

All members of the organization are planning to make a personal inspection and tour of the Prado dam site on May 29, meeting at the Riverbank camp at 9 a. m. and taking lunch with them, Murray N. Thompson, county

Date for Marriage Of McCormick Still Undecided

HONOLULU, T. H., May 20.—(UP)—Wedding plans of John McCormick, Hollywood film executive, and Mrs. Janet Gattis, Washington, D. C., and Beverly Hills society woman, were still uncomplicated today after legal obstacles had turned their scheduled ceremony into an "engagement party."

The ceremony was postponed yesterday that his first wife, Colleen Moore, stage and screen star, had not secured a final decree of divorce from him. Miss Moore obtained the decree in Los Angeles later in the day but McCormick apparently was not informed of the action and the wedding was not held.

Instead, the guests who were invited to watch a ceremony under a bower of 5000 gardenias were told that it was an engagement party.

Movement to Halt Wage Reductions Launched by Doak

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—A movement to defeat attempts at wage reductions is being made by the administration through collection of statistics which will show, it is believed, that productivity of workers has increased out of all proportions to their wages, and that if any "adjustment" is made, it should be upward, not down.

This became known yesterday following an unusually long cabinet meeting, when Secretary of Labor Doak announced appointment of a committee of economists, labor leaders and government officials to study the effect of machine production on employment.

Radio Programs As Paid Advertising Favored by Press

CHICAGO, May 20.—(UP)—The Inland Daily Press association was on record today as favoring the handling of radio programs in newspapers as paid advertising. A resolution to this effect was adopted at the opening session of its spring meeting.

Chief speaker at the session was Alexander Legges, former farm board chairman, who urged the editors to see the value to agriculture and to international well-being of their support of co-operative marketing projects.

BEVERLY HILLS, May 20.—[To the Editor of The Register:] The League of Nations in Geneva just got started in on some big scheme when a Russian gets up and proposes something and the rest of the congregation don't know if he is "kidding" or on the level. Russia don't do as much harm to the rest of the world as they just worry 'em. She just loves to put a thumb in the soup and let the guests see it's in there. The whole world's nerves are "jumpy" anyhow right now—anybody with a sheet over their head can run the world home and under the bed.

500 AIRPLANES LEAVE DAYTON FOR CHICAGO

FAIRFIELD AIR DEPOT, DAYTON, O., May 20.—(UP)—The giant armada composing the army's aerial defense, roared into the air today and headed for Chicago where the second phase of the annual army air maneuvers was to be enacted late today and tomorrow.

Delayed a full day by inclement weather, the 500 planes were to be joined over Joliet, Ill., by 95 National Guard planes from Cleveland; the entire first division then was to divide and land at five Chicago airports to prepare for tomorrow's demonstration.

Bombardment, pursuit and transport planes were the first to clear the field. They were followed at 15-minute intervals by other squadrons.

The planes will return tomorrow night, weather permitting, and on Friday, a day late because of poor flying conditions, will wing into the air and head for New York and the Atlantic seaboard for the final phase of the maneuvers.

The fleet was to land in Chicago between 2:30 and 4 p. m. The armada was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, maneuvers commandant. He said the loss of a day would make no change in the program mapped out for the eastern states. A day which was set aside for repairs on the planes will be used for regular maneuver purposes, he said.

The principal contest was for the third grand vice presidency, which leads to the presidency. It was sought by Ben Harrison, San Bernardino; Irving D. Isaacs, Sacramento; and Charles A. Koenig, San Francisco.

PONTOONS ORDERED FOR LINDY'S PLANE

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—(UP)—The possibility that Col. Charles Lindbergh may include ocean flights in his future aviation activities was seen today when it was learned that he had ordered the addition of pontoons to a new Lockheed-Sirius monoplane recently completed for him here.

The ship now is at College Point, Long Island, officials of the Lockheed factory said, and they have forwarded specifications for the floats to an eastern manufacturer.

Extraordinary Demand for Funds Reason Given for Transferring of Assets

DETAILS of the negotiations by which the assets of Fidelity Savings and Loan association are to be transferred to Pacific States Savings and Loan company were released this morning by George L. Eastman, president of Fidelity and Robert S. Odell, president of Pacific States Savings. They stated it is not improbable the transfer will be consummated today.

Transfer will be accomplished by an exchange of Fidelity's assets for Pacific States Savings term certificates on the following basis:

Seventy-five per cent of these Pacific States certificates will be definite term certificates and will be redeemable in cash for full face value at maturity.

Twenty-five per cent of these Pacific States certificates will be participating certificates payable when, and as, proceeds applicable thereto are realized from collection of Fidelity's loans or otherwise realized from its assets.

These Pacific States Savings certificates will be issued on and after October 1, 1931, and will bear six per cent interest on their face value so that Fidelity certificate holders will receive full and uninterrupted income on their investment until certificates mature or are redeemed in cash.

As a measure of economy all Fidelity's offices will be presently closed.

Fair To Both

H. L. Cushman, building and loan commissioner, who encouraged the negotiations, stated, "the deal is fair to Fidelity and safe for Pacific States Savings. The contract preserves for the protection of Fidelity certificate holders a reasonable control by the building and loan commissioner over the conversion of Fidelity's assets by Pacific States Savings."

TO ASK REFUND ON TUBERCULAR CATTLE KILLED

Following appearance of a group of dairymen before the board of supervisors yesterday and presentation of a request for action by Roland Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm bureau, the board determined to request the state director of agriculture to declare Orange county a tuberculosis controlled area.

This action was taken to permit Orange county dairy operators and cattle raisers to come under the provisions of the indemnity act which it is said, was passed by the legislature and which was legalized at the general election last fall by a constitutional amendment authorizing indemnification of live stock owners in the state for animals condemned and killed.

Money for this purpose will be available only in areas which have been approved by the state department of agriculture, it was pointed out by Flaherty, and application must be made by the boards of supervisors to be included.

He also said there would not be sufficient funds available to cover the entire state and that it already had been agreed to include Orange county if application was made in the regular method.

Flaherty said that there are 7500 head of dairy cattle now under state test, of which only 3.6 per cent were tubercular under state tests. "The county is practically free of tuberculosis in dairy herds," he said.

AIRWOMAN'S DEEDS

LONDON—Mrs. Victor Bruce, England's intrepid airwoman, has accomplished something in the field of aviation. The idiosyncrasy of a horned toad at times proves baffling and such is expected to be the situation on June 5. What starts out like a world record flash may end in a dismal "flop." The toad sprints forward at lightning speed for a few feet, then dashes back to the center again, even when it has only half an inch left to cross the winning line.

Beach W. C. T. U.

Arranges Session
NEWPORT BEACH, May 20.—The next meeting of the Newport Beach W. C. T. U. is to be held May 27, with a potluck luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ella Blair of the Ramona apartments, Central avenue, Balboa.

Mrs. Sara G. Bowman will have charge of the Bible study hour at 11 a. m. Mrs. R. W. Jones will speak at 2:30 o'clock, her subject being "The Importance of Temperance Teaching in The Sunday School."

An 80 foot right of way connecting Fairhaven and Ocean avenue was ordered by the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon in a resolution which declared that the right of way for a connecting road was required by public necessity and convenience. The opening of this territory will allow a through traffic artery to Garden Grove. The new link extends for about a quarter of a mile.

The board also accepted the old bridge across the Santa Ana river on the coast highway, which is being replaced with a wider bridge by the state highway department as part of its road widening program along the coast highway. The offer from the state department was presented to the board by Superintendent of Highways Nat Neff, who said the bridge originally had been built by the county and that the state was offering it free of charge. The structure will be made use of in future bridge construction in the county, it is anticipated.

Payroll demands for county road department employees will be approved at a special meeting of the board on June 4, it was decided yesterday, to enable the county employees to have their pay checks prior to the 10th of the month.

RASH ANNOUNCES NEW MARKET HERE

William H. Rash, 1811 West Fifth street, announced today that he had signed a lease for the building now housing the Harnois Book store, a barber shop and boot black stand at 413 West Fourth street and that on June 15 he will open a new food market at that location, where meats, groceries and vegetables will be sold.

The Santa Ana Cabinet works is now working on fixtures for the store, Rash said. The place will duplicate the Union Public market on Beverly boulevard, Los Angeles, in style and arrangement, and will be one of the most up to date in the Southland, Rash said.

Rash has patented a new type of case for display of meat and fresh food, which will be used in the new market.

He started business here in 1914, with Bergman and Obar at Fourth and Broadway and since that time has been identified with Peak's market, Safeway market, B. H. Baker and other local markets.

He announced that a contest would be conducted to secure the best name for the new place of business and prizes would be awarded for the winning names.

CITY COUNCIL DETERMINED TO WIDEN HIGHWAY

FULLERTON, May 20.—Declaring its intention to proceed with widening north Spadra road from Chapman avenue to the Pacific Electric viaduct regardless of whether or not the project is carried out above the viaduct to the city limits, the Fullerton city council last night definitely assured property owners in the region of the "bottleneck" that the lower unit of the widening project will be carried out.

The action was taken by the council after City Attorney Albert Launer stated that the lower unit of the project is practically ready to be carried out. He pointed out that rights of way have all been secured and that the other legal procedure will soon be completed, prior to beginning actual work of widening. He further stated that due to certain difficulties and problems in connection with the upper unit, the project as a whole could not be started as soon as the lower unit. He declared, however, that it is his opinion that the upper unit will be abandoned, although it may take some time to work out the problems before work can start.

Councilmen pointed out that they wanted property owners to know that they are acting in good faith and that they were favorable to starting the lower unit of the project as soon as legal steps are completed. Launer stated that he believed that all legal matters in connection with the lower unit can be completed within the next two or three weeks.

Following explanation by City Clerk F. C. Hennrich that fire insurance will soon expire, the council authorized him to advertise for bids for the insurance. Need of a new tractor for the street department of the city was brought to the attention of the council by City Engineer C. M. Thorpe, who pointed out that due to increased activity in street work, the present tractor being used is not capable of supplying sufficient power. He pointed out that a trade-in of the old tractor might be advisable. The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for the tractor which will be opened on June 16. Assistance of the council in laying a pipe line for an Anaheim Union Water company ditch on the property of J. W. Heterbrink west of Acacia avenue on Ross avenue was asked by Heterbrink. He suggested that the council pay one-fourth of the cost, the remainder to be paid by the Anaheim Union Water company property owners. He estimated that the length of the line would be about three-eighths of a mile at approximately $40 per foot. The council assured him that it would pay one-fourth of the cost of laying the line, the total cost to the city being approximately $200.

JEFFERSON STANDARD LIFE INS. Co., of Greensboro, N. C. JAMES H. SEWELL, Mgr., SANTA ANA Offices 211-13 Builders' Exchange Bldg. Phone 2889. Surely if parents realized the saving in premium costs and the extra years of protection to the child they would not fail to take insurance for him while he is still following facts: A $10,000 Jefferson Standard policy on your child at age 10 will cost only $9.90 per month; whereas later in life the same policy will cost from $30 to $55 per month, or even more. Insurance taken on a ten-year-old child and carried until he is 60 gives him 60 years of protection at less than the man of 35 pays, who gets only 25 years of protection if he carries the policy until he is 60. The child has twice the number of years of protection, pays less for same, and gets back more cash at 60 than the man of 35.

He knows where
Fire may strike

You may never see him. But he's working now to protect your life and property—the Fire Prevention Engineer. Who can estimate the thousands of lives he and his co-workers have saved; the millions in property loss prevented?

This new "science" of fire-prevention—first launched and continuously supported by insurance companies—is but 27 years old. Yet average national fire insurance rates have been reduced by 30 per cent!

Fire-fighters, too, have adopted scientific methods. Commissioners and fire-department chiefs now regard prevention as one of their first duties. They train their men to recognize and remove fire hazards; and, knowing that most disastrous fires are caused by carelessness, give freely of their time to educational work.

In this community and throughout California, fire-prevention directly concerns every man, woman and child. And so Bank of America, in the interest of all Californians, lends its staunch and active support.

Anaheim Valencias Being Shipped To Europe

LARGE FORCES EMPLOYED BY CITRUS PLANTS

ANAHEIM, May 20.—Although the Valencia orange packing season was opened but a scant two weeks ago, reports from the various packing houses in the vicinity of Anaheim reveal that very satisfactory shipments of oranges have already been made, and although the demand for them is a definite demand for them, the various houses have been made to foreign countries.

The Anaheim Citrus Fruit association, located on East Center street, started packing Valencia May 7 and up to last night, had shipped 60 cars of fruit, most of which was exported to Liverpool, England, from where it is distributed throughout continental Europe. According to a statement made by Carl Monahan, manager of the house, the association will ship over 1000 cars this season. The association is employing over 300 people as packers, drivers and pickers.

The Anaheim Community Growers association shipped 25 cars of Valencia up to last night and expects to ship over 700 cars during the Valencia season, according to a statement made by J. H. Rife, manager of the association. The association is employing 125 people in the fields and in the packing house, most of whom are Anaheim residents. The house has shipped six large cars containing 4000 boxes of fruit to Liverpool.

The Olive Fruit company, located on East Center street, has had its plant in operation for three weeks and reports that most of the business so far this year has been export business. Up to the end of last week, the house had shipped 141 cars of Valencia, which is equivalent to 16,500 boxes. One order alone was for 10,000 boxes which went to Liverpool, England. The balance of the orders have gone to London, Rotterdam, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Hamburg, Berlin and other foreign cities. Representatives of Chinese companies have visited the plant recently and have signified their intention of placing large orders. The company is employing people, employed as packers and pickers, in excess of 300. A. J. Miller, manager of the company, declared that the export business was very good and was much better than had been expected.

Dale King, sales manager of the Northern Orange County Fruit exchange, declared that although the Valencia oranges were unusually small, crop returns are comparable to those of 1929. The exchange has shipped 250 cars up to Saturday night and expects to ship about the same amount of fruit as was shipped in 1929, when 6750 cars were shipped. Export business is usually larger at the beginning of the season than during the last part, King declared. The exchange is composed of 14 houses, with 16 associations. The Anaheim house is located on South Los Angeles street, and is the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association, of which G. W. Sandland is manager.

The Anaheim Co-operative Orange association on West Lincoln street started packing less than two weeks ago and has shipped 10 cars of the fruit thus far this season. H. W. Pierce, manager, reports that the export business

JOHN BROWN SERVICES OPEN IN ANAHEIM THURSDAY NIGHT

ANAHEIM, May 20.—A choir composed of more than 200 voices will begin practice tonight under the direction of Kate E. McCullah for the series of evangelistic meetings to be held in the tabernacle recently erected at the corner of Broadway and Palm streets.

Elden Farrar is director of music and Helen Ketch is to be the piano player. John Brown, noted evangelist, who has recently conducted a series of meetings in Fullerton, will be the guiding hand of the meetings, although he will not conduct all of the sessions. His first appearance in Anaheim will be on Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The meetings will open tomorrow night, when Dr. J. Philpott, pastor of the Church of the Open Door, Los Angeles, delivers the opening sermon. The meetings are sponsored by laymen of the county, headed by L. B. Steward, of Fullerton. Perry Mathis, of Anaheim, is the chairman of this series of meetings.

Members of the volunteer crew from Fullerton believe that they made a record when they tore down the entire building and moved the material to Anaheim in seven hours. Building work was started Thursday morning and was finished Friday night. About 40 volunteer workmen were employed. The tabernacle will seat about 2500 people.

MEXICANS GIVE CLASS PLAY IN WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, May 20.—More than 200 students and friends of the immigrant education classes of the Huntington Beach Union High school district met at the Frank Lessig theater recently for the presentation of the class play and program. The reception committee which welcomed the group was composed of Mrs. Florence Summers, director of immigrant education of Huntington Beach high school; Rogelio Magallanes, vice president of the La Colonia Men's club; Justus Cruz, of Westminster, representative from the honorary commission of the Mexican consul's office, and Frank Lessig, who donated the use of his theater for the occasion.

Assisting in the program were Mr. Johansen, principal of the Hoover school, and Mrs. Johansen, director of the Mexican boys' harmonica orchestra. A feature of the program was music by this orchestra, which appeared for the first time in two excellent numbers. A poppy song by the small girls of the Colonia Juarez was warmly applauded. The Cruz brothers orchestra of four pieces presented three well executed numbers, one of which was an old folk selection from their home land. The girls' chorus composed of six young women from the adult class at Talbert, gave two numbers and was accompanied by Mrs. Summers. Escalastica Rivera recited "Thanks for America and Its Flag" in English and also gave a number in Spanish entitled, "La Apertura de una Escuela." A duet by Mr. Lopez and H. Hernandez, of Manzanita, was followed by an encore number.

The main feature of the affair was the class play entitled "The Rose of Monterey." The cast included Juanita, played by Eleanor Hernandez; Captain Sherman, Paul Cruz; Jose, Celestino Cruz; Pedro, Aquilino Gill; Maria, Mary Lopez; Raquel, Lupe Gonzales; Rosa, Natalia Arevalo; Herlinda, Trinidad Martinez; Consuelo, Genevieve Carlos; Senora Hernandez, Mrs. Jesse Preston; the grandfather, J. H. Summers. The solo parts in the play were rendered by Celestino Cruz and Paul Cruz, who accompanied themselves on the guitar.

CITRUS FACTS GIVEN FOR FARM CENTER

YORBA LINDA, May 20.—Every great industry has its efficiency engineer and in the orange industry, one of the greatest in California, each grower should be his own efficiency engineer, said H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, talking to members of the Yorba Linda Farm center at their regular meeting in the Women's clubhouse Monday evening.

Continuing, Wahlberg said, "We are facing a time when we will not get as satisfactory returns as we have in the past, contributing factors being lessening in the trend of demand and the lower buying power of the people of the east, coupled with competitive production in this and other countries."

"While the Valencia deal is still one of the most satisfactory agricultural deals in the United States, and is still on a profitable basis, yet we must face facts and there is still room for improvement. To make it a success, we must consider four points, yield, quality, economical production and controlled distribution, and tonight I am considering the third point, economical production."

With this the speaker produced his chart showing the average production costs of about 75 groves in the county, and gave an analysis of citrus culture for the county.

George Kellogg gave a report on the directors' meeting, reading the report of the water conservation committee as presented by Earl Campbell, in which it was stated that only 20 per cent of the population of Orange county had witnessed the flood of 1918. The fate of senate bill No. 1851, which the Farm bureau was backing, was discussed.

President Austin Marshburn reported that Yorba Linda would put on a community exhibit at the county fair and orange show, and that Mrs. C. H. Eichler and Mrs. B. M. Selover would be in charge, and would select their own committee.

Voigt Loses In British Golf

LAST U. S. HOPE ELIMINATED BY SYDNEY ROPER

WESTWARD HO, England, May 20. — (UP)—George Voigt, New York, was two up on Sydney Roper at the turn of their fifth round match in the British amateur golf championships today.

A gallery of 400 watched the play held under perfect weather conditions.

Roper won 1 up. Voigt conceded the match on the 18th green, after his fourth shot had gone over the green.

Voigt, tournament favorite, had reached the fifth round by a morning victory over Bernard Darwin, golf writer, 2 and 2.

The defeat of Voigt eliminated the last of the surviving overseas players. It came on a day of surprising results as two other highly regarded contestants were also defeated in the fifth round. Roger Wethered, former champion and twice runner-up, lost to W. Tulloch, 1 down. Cyril Tolley, Britain's long-driving amateur, was defeated by Capt. H. C. C. Tippet, 3 and 2.

Voigt was out in par 37, and was 2 up at the turn. Roper had 39.

Voigt scored a birdie four at the first hole although his approach second was short. He chipped to within two feet of the hole. Roper won the third with a birdie four. Voigt failed to reach the green in two and was over in 3. Voigt missed a 2-yr putt on the fifth for a par 3. A poor second shot approaching the ninth cost Voigt a winning hole. They halved in par 5.

What-a-Man Shires Just Plain Shires

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 20.—(UP)—Just so his public won't misunderstand him and not because he wants to rush into print, Art (Just-A-Minor-Leaguer) Shires, as he now wants to be known, today announced his reformation.

Shires wants to tell the world—in whispers please—that he is through with boasting, fighting with managers, wisecracking and excessive use of the first person singular.

The former self-admitted great Chicago White Sox first baseman is now just Shires, first baseman, Milwaukee, "only a minor leaguer or I wouldn't be here now."

SANTA ANA 9-1 CONQUEROR OF OLIVE PACKERS

The pace that kills today numbered as another of its many victims the once powerful Packers of Olive who couldn't keep up with the steam-rolling Stars of Santa Ana last night. The score was 9 to 1, and it was the ninth successive National Night league triumph for George Lackaye's undefeated champions.

By mowing down Olive, the Stars made one complete whirl about the circuit without losing a single game. Every team in the league has now felt the wrath of the inspired champions.

With a bad Anaheim game out of his system, "Jumpin' Joe" Cornelius, brilliant Santa Ana pitcher, settled down to business at the old stand. Stopping Olive with five hits, two of 'em bunts, Cornelius deserved a shutout against the same free-hitting outfit that last Friday knocked both Lloyd Johnson and "String" McDonnell of Whittier out of the box. Cornelius fanned 11, touching an impressive flourish to his fine work by striking out six of the last eight batters who faced him.

ELIMINATED

No American will succeed Bobby Jones as British amateur golf champion this year. George Voigt, below, last surviving U. S. contestant, was eliminated today by Sydney Roper, British star.

ITINERARY FOR TROJAN TRACK TRIP REVEALED

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—University of Southern California track athletes will leave Friday at 6:15 p.m. for their annual eastern quest for national intercollegiate track laurels and will have three short workouts on their way to Philadelphia, scene of the I. C. A. A. A. championships, where they will arrive next Monday at 11:25 a. m. The Trojans will take part in the I. C. A. A. meet May 29 and 30 and in the N. C. A. A. championships in Chicago June 5 and 6.

Announcement of the Trojan track party's itinerary was made today by Director of Athletics Willis O. Hunter and revealed that the Southern Californians will have brief workout at Douglas, Ariz., Sunday afternoon, and at St. Louis Monday morning.

Leaving Los Angeles Friday night amid a big rally of Trojan students at the Southern Pacific station, the Southern Californians will travel aboard the Golden State Limited, going by way of Kansas City to St. Louis where they will arrive at 7:43 a. m. Monday. Leaving St. Louis at 12:02 p. m. they will arrive in Philadelphia late the next morning.

Following the I. C. A. A. A. championships, Southern California's team will follow the scenic route by way of Niagara Falls to Chicago, leaving Philadelphia 11:25 p. m. May 30 and arriving in Chicago at 7:43 a. m. Monday. This schedule will give the Trojans four days in which to train and rest before the preliminaries of the N. C. A. A. meet.

PINKERT TO FULLBACK

A change Howard Jones is contemplating in his Southern California eleven next fall is that of moving Ernie Pinkert, 1930 All-American halfback, to fullback. The difficulty, if any, will be in finding a man to fill Pinkert's post as blocking halfback.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Determined to improve his umpiring corps, brunt of many an uncomplimentary remark, President George Washington Peterkin of the National Night Baseball league has lured from retirement the best of Santa Ana's guessers, Sid (Eagle-Eye) Allender.

Overtures also have been made the rugged "Tuffy" Tyrrell, former Western league player, who would be able to take care of himself out there if the boys didn't like the way he called 'em.

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's Helen Willis Moody, figures in today's "Miracles of Sport" by Robert Edgren, shown elsewhere on this page.

Miss Cruickshank last year won the United States intercollegiate singles and doubles championships, losing only four games in 76. Those four all came in the doubles.

Strangely enough, the Santa Ana girl plays better tennis in the east than on her own west coast. Last Sunday in Los Angeles she was beaten for the Southern California singles title by Mary Greaf, a lower ranking player whom Miss Cruickshank has defeated repeatedly in tournament and practice play. The scores were 5-7, 6-1, 7-5. Miss Cruickshank led 4-0 in the final set.

Long Beach critics questioned the courage of Paul Jacques, best of Santa Ana's famed "Jumpin' Jacques," freely predicted he would fold up in the Southern California Interscholastic meet.

Long Beach boasted two promising jumpers, Moan and Collier, counted on them to beat the sometimes erratic Saint captain. Collier had done 6 feet, 4 inches. Moan was consistent at 6 feet.

But when Jacques, Moan and Collier got into the caldron of competition it was Moan and Collier who folded up, not Jacques.

COCHET OFF COURTS BECAUSE OF ILLNESS

AUTEUIL, France, May 20. — (UP)—Illness will prevent Henri Cochet, world's leading singles player, from defending his title in the French hard court tennis championships here next week, it was announced officially today.

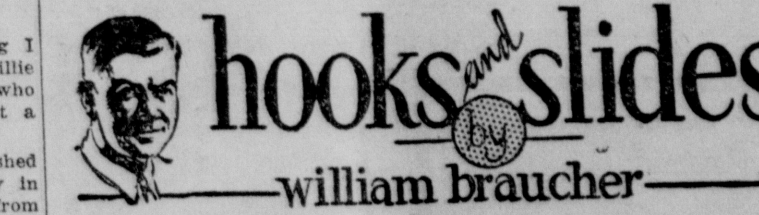

Corbett, Jones To Fight In Oakland

OAKLAND, May 20. — (UP)—Young Corbett III of Fresno, Cal., and "Gorilla" Jones of Akron, O., two leading contenders for the world's welterweight title, were signed today for a California championship fight here in June.

1127 SEEK TO PLAY IN U. S. OPEN GOLF

NEW YORK, May 20.—(UP)—A total of 1127 entries has been received for the qualifying rounds of the United States Open Golf championship, finals of which will be held at the Inverness club, Toledo, O., July 2 to 4. Prescott C. Bush, secretary of the United States Golf association, announced through the United Press today.

The number of places to be allotted each of the 20 districts will be announced later.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—A stymie decided a recent women's golf championship match in Philadelphia. . . Mrs. Ralph Raynor, holder of the district championship, lost to Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd on the 19th green. . . Miss Ruth Ruether, daughter of "Dutch" Ruether, is one of the pitchers on the Bloomer Girls' team at Inglewood, Calif. . . "Dutch" is pitching for Seattle now. . . Night golf was tried by five golfers of the University of Detroit recently. . . the balls were luminous-painted. . . but the visibility must not have been so good because the players quit after shooting three holes and losing 40 balls. . . Georgetown and Catholic university at Washington have horseshoe pitching on their intramural sports program. . . a tournament between the two schools might result in some very skillful digging, anyway.

WOOD IS ENGAGED

Sidney Wood, the baby of the Davis Cup team this year, isn't married but is likely to be seeking an altar in the near future. Wood, at 19 years of age, is engaged to a girl from Lake Forest, Ill., whom he met in Tucson where he is a freshman at the University of Arizona.

SO IS SHIELDS

Frank Shields, hurrying from Mexico to Canada for the matches at Montreal, found time to stop off for a day or two at Northampton, Mass. It seems he is engaged, too.

Perhaps Shields and Wood ought to conspire with Wilmer Allison and demand a showdown on expenses for the wives of Davis Cup players. No expenses for wives, no Davis Cup matches!

There wouldn't be anything the dear old U. S. L. T. A. could do about it.

ALTAR AND NET

Something will have to be done about these tennis marriages. Last year Helen Willis was married and retired from active competition for the sake of domestic happiness.

The other day Wilmer Allison, after playing with the Davis Cup team against Mexico, announced that further participation on his part was at an end unless the U. S. L. T. A. helped to pay the Mrs. Allison's traveling expenses.

Perhaps there ought to be a law. The Davis Cup matches might be made a co-educational affair, with a tournament for married players and another for their wives. The U. S. L. T. A. might write a set of rules governing the marriages of tennis people. For matrimonial purposes, all the eligible male and female tennis players in the land could be ranked according to their abilities. For example, a No. 3 national ranking male player would not be allowed to marry himself off to any woman player ranking worse than No. 8. A Davis Cup champion team might be arrived at in the same way that a Derby winner is given to the world.

Helen Willis Moody, however, announced the other day that she is going to play again. Time, perhaps, will take care of these matters.

ANAHEIM WINS FROM LONG BEACH, 10-7

Anaheim's Valencia moved into a tie for second place in the flag race by beating Long Beach, 10 to 7, in a slugfest at Anaheim.

Russell Cogans, Anaheim's new pitcher from the Foothill league made a favorable impression although though touched up rather freely.

Long Beach got one in the second on Downer's single, Elliott's fielder's choice and two wild pitches; three in the third on singles by McClure, Hunter and Downer, and a double by Downer and three more in the ninth when Downer hit a homer with two on.

Anaheim made one in the first on Neal's single which Downer threw away, and a passed ball four in the fourth on Rice's life of an error, and singles by Brandt, Lemon, Cogans, Schuchardt and Scholder; two in the fifth when Moody and Rice banged successive home runs; one in the sixth on Scholder's two-bagger and Kohler's

MCCLURE GIVES SPEECH BEFORE GROUP OF MEN

ORANGE, May 20.—S. S. McClure, note editor and world traveler, addressed the members of the Men's club and their guests at a meeting held at the Trinity Episcopal church parish hall Monday night on the subject of "The Science of Human Organization." Preceding the address, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong gave two vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Eileen Smith.

McClure was introduced by Sumner Crosby, of Laguna Beach, who said that the speaker had discovered many talented writers as a publisher of McClure's magazine. "He discovered Rex Beach, Jack London and Ida Tarbell and introduced Kipling and Stevenson to the American public," Crosby declared.

"The greatest achievement in history is the creation of the United States," the speaker said, "an achievement which is unparalleled in history. Thirteen sovereign states were voluntarily consolidated in one nation. A similar union of independent states in Germany required a period of 200 years."

"In a few short months the American people created a nation. In America there were many great men; they came from an outstanding race of great Englishmen. It would be hard to find a greater Englishman than George Washington. England gave an example of democracy and America gave an example of what good government should be in the New England town government."

"There are three great examples of organization, the Standard Oil company, the General Electric company and the American Telephone and Telephone company." McClure traced the development of the English government and said that the first great reform movement recorded in history occurred in that country at a time when children three years old were working in the cotton mills, when slavery existed, and when parliament was corrupt. In 1830 in that country things were in the hands of self-appointed cliques, the speaker said, and a committee was appointed to investigate crime. England is now the most law abiding country in the world, McClure declared.

The history of the formation of the German states was told. McClure told of investigations which he had conducted in Germany, where he met a mayor of a city who was completing the second 14-year term as head of a city. He stressed the fact that the best men must be chosen for office and that the salary must be attractive enough to secure the best.

Present crime conditions in the United States were recounted and among the interesting facts cited were that the murders in the United States from 1891 to 1930 inclusive exceed the number of American soldiers killed in all of the wars of the United States, including the war of the Revolution, both northern and southern sides of the Civil war and the World war and all other wars. This statement included those killed on the battlefields and not those who died of wounds or disease.

McClure gave an account of the investigation of crime in New York City in 1909 when foreign countries were responsible for the investigation, when it was found that many of the girls of other countries disappeared after arriving in New York City. McClure said he spent $10,000 in this investigation.

SCOUT TROOPS ARE PREPARING FOR JAMBOREE

Nearly every scout troop in the county is holding weekly practice in an effort to win events at the annual Scout Jamboree to be held May 29 in the Olive bowl. It was announced today by Harrison E. White, scout executive.

under the leadership of Joseph R. Perry, is specializing in the fire by friction and the fire contests but plans to enter teams in nearly every event. One of the special presentations of this troop will be its drum and bugle corps, said to be one of the finest in the Southland.

Troop 16, of Seal Beach, the youngest in the county, will be initiated into the Jamboree this year by being placed in the front of the south county team in the tug of war. The tug of war is expected to furnish a great deal of amusement, as a two-inch hose is to be used as the rope, and the team that loses probably will get a good wetting. Rolly Linch is scoutmaster of this troop.

Westminster boys of troop 4 will specialize in the horse and rider event.

Hollis Fitz is scoutmaster of this troop.

Newport Beach troop 8, under the leadership of A. J. Twist, assisted by Vernon Orr and Albert Spencer, will enter every event. This is one of the largest and most outstanding troops in the county, White declared, and is expected to give a good account of itself at the Jamboree.

Lloyd Wilcott, scoutmaster of Troop 6 of Costa Mesa, has announced that his troop will enter every event in the various events. This troop is the largest in the county.

Troop 9, which is a new troop under the leadership of Herman E. Landis, will enter every event with the exception of the bugle contest.

R. N. Bowen, scoutmaster of Troop 10, of Laguna Beach, has announced that his troop is meeting twice each week to practice on the events.

The Sea Scouts of Newport Beach, under the direction of B. L. Marshall, have expressed a desire to enter the first aid and the horse and rider contests.

Scoutmaster Guy W. Pacquette of troop 20 of Santa Ana, assisted by Earl Ruddy, is planning a number of clown stunts that are expected to attract a great deal of attention.

Troop 24, sponsored by the Santa Ana Rotary club and under the leadership of Harold Goddard, will enter all events. De Mont Galbraith, John McBride, Claude Owens, Robert Schwarm, Sonny Tucker, Pat Wenbush and Gordon Belsel have entered their names from this troop as participants.

Troop 100, of Placentia, Claude Glenn, scoutmaster, assisted by troop chairman J. H. Rymer, is expected to be a strong contender in the Jamboree. The pioneer days theme is to be "Covered Wagon Days" in which the troop will have an old covered wagon. Several of the boys have ponies of their own and will ride with the wagon as out-riders.

A number of the troops are working elimination contests within the troops, the best scouts in each event being chosen to represent the troop at the Jamboree.

The scout who sells the most tickets for the Jamboree will win a week's outing at Camp RoKILL, given by the scout council. The second prize, a $5 gold piece, is to be donated by the 40 and 8, under the auspices of which the Jamboree is held. More than 6000 tickets for the Jamboree are out, many of them already sold.

The 40 and 8 committee in charge of the arrangements for the Jamboree includes Joe Fultz, Glenn Young, Roscoe Tubbs and Ray Smith.

A SURPRISE PARTY

LONDON — A tramp, searching in the rubbish heap near Plymouth in the hope of finding an old pair of shoes, came across an old envelope containing a gold diamond cluster ring, a gold neck chain with pendant, and a pair of valuable earrings. Police believe a thief abandoned the jewels in the rubbish heap after being frightened by the approach of the tramp.

WILL DEMONSTRATE WALNUT SPRAYING

Walnut spray demonstrations and irrigation discussions will be held under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and the agricultural commissioner's office Thursday, it was learned today.

The meetings for walnut growers will be held in the morning at 10 o'clock at the Charles Heinrichs ranch at 905 West Washington street and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock at the ranch of O. W. Little, 1500 East Commonwealth, Fullerton.

Spray applications for codling moths and aphids will be conducted. W. H. Wright, deputy agricultural commissioner, will lead the discussion on these problems and will present figures from packing houses showing results of pest control on quality of fruit and returns. Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor, will discuss moisture conditions of the groves at the present time and will make some soil tests.

Placentia Woman Injured In Crash

Mrs. Clara Colton, 27, of Placentia, was reported injured at 9:30 o'clock Monday night, when the car in which she was riding with her husband, George S. Colton, overturned on Placentia avenue, near Orangefhorpe road.

The Colton car overturned after a collision with a car reported to have been driven by Frank A. Rivas, of 3612 East Second street, Los Angeles.

Rivas was arrested a short time after the accident by Chief Barnes, of Placentia, and was lodged in the county jail here on a charge of reckless driving.

Leaders Named For Junior Lions

Santa Ana Junior college Junior Lions nominated officers for the next semester Monday night when they met at Ketter's cafe for their regular meeting. Election will take place at a dinner meeting on June 2 at Ketter's. It was decided to support the Press club barn frolic at Bowman's barn tomorrow night.

Martin Bowman and Paul Wright were appointed as the program committee for the next meeting.

"Cubs" present were Ed Meador, Martin Bowman, Bruce Harbottle, Jim Thompson, Charles Greenleaf, Bert Winslow, Willard Minor, Paul Wright, Richard Robbins and John Smith.

Court Notes

Hermanes and Hermanus Hol-trust, who previously entered pleas of not guilty to charges of assault with a deadly weapon, have withdrawn their former pleas and entered pleas of guilty to charges of simple assault. They were each fined $50 by Superior Judge James L. Allen on the guilty pleas. Their bail was ordered exonerated and the trial date, which had been set for June 9, was vacated. The trouble which landed the pair in court is reported to have arisen out of a controversy with Cornelia Verburg.

Miss Watson is president of the state section of Honor society advisers and was instrumental in bringing the convention to this city.

Dr. Arthur J. Coons, of Occidental college, will be the principal speaker of the morning session in the junior college auditorium. The program will be opened by addresses of welcome by D. K. Hammond, president of the college, and John "Sly" Dunlap, student president.

A play by the drama department and several musical features by Pasadena junior college also have been arranged for this evening.

At noon, the delegates will have luncheon in the college cafeteria. Mrs. John Tressman, instructor of astronomy, will give a talk on Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, national honorary societies of four year universities and colleges. Music will be furnished by Marion Nau, Miss Mary Nau and Miss Betty Smedley.

At 1 p. m., Dr. Merton Hill, of Chaffee junior college, will give a short talk, which will be followed by round table discussions on various problems. The students will meet in College hall, while the faculty advisers will convene in the college library, after which the two groups will come together for a discussion of the future of the honor societies and Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honor society. Santa Ana was granted the first charter in California in this organization.

Manfred Mueller, president of the Santa Ana chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, will be in charge of the meeting, during which time new officers will be elected, the president automatically taking the next convention. The program will close with an informal tea in the Y hut, served by the Sisterhood of Spintars, women's campus service club. The luncheon will be served by the Moav club, another women's service organization.

Faces Trial On Burglary Count

ANAHEIM, May 20.—Henry K. Crowder, 22, charged with burglary on a complaint signed by Raymond L. Jones, appeared before Judge Frank Tausch in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge and was ordered to be held to answer to the superior court in Santa Ana.

Crowder was arraigned before Judge Tausch Monday morning when the charge against him was cited as a misdemeanor. The charge was changed to a felony at that time.

He was arrested May 14 in Los Angeles by probation officers after Anaheim police had telephoned them. He was arrested in a Los Angeles courtroom with a gun and other personal effects asserted to belong to Jones. Crowder is accused of entering a room in the Pickwick hotel in Anaheim which was occupied at the time by Jones.

LAGUNA BEACH
REALTORS HEAR
JOSEPH SMITH

It was Smith day at the Realty board meeting Tuesday noon at the White House cafe in Laguna Beach when Real Estate Commissioner Joseph P. Smith was the speaker. Carson Smith, of Santa Ana, and George William Smith were present. At the previous meeting of the board Leonard Smith was speaker, the guest of C. Hartwell Smith.

Joseph P. Smith was introduced by Roy W. Peacock, president of the board. Discussing the state department over which he presides, Smith said that the 96 questions which previously had been asked applicants for broker licenses were now embodied in about 50 and read a number of answers which had been received from those examined. Many of these showed a complete lack of understanding of the work for which they were being examined.

Many of these showed a complete lack of understanding of the work for which they were being examined.

Expressing some doubt as to whether real estate selling would ever become a profession, Smith said that it could and should be a very high calling. Going into some of the details of his department, he said that he had been asked to drop four branches, but this had been altered to eliminate 28 employees, a retrenchment made necessary in order to keep within the budget.

He closed with a tribute to the city of Laguna Beach, to the prosperity of Southern California and to Gov. James Rolph Jr.

Among visitors present were Elmer Crawford, Gilbert Wilson, W. F. Croddy, secretary of the Santa Ana Realty board; Stanley E. Goode and Jack Wallace.

Croddy, in a brief talk, directed attention to the increased taxation which must be levied in order to meet the cost of improvements which the taxpayers themselves are asking. Lowered assessments and lowered income from oil must result, he said, in a higher tax rate.

Gilbert Wilson spoke briefly on realtors he had known and the need of keeping the state cleared of those who misrepresented.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 20.—Representatives of the Pacific Electric railway, the Huntington Beach company, the Standard Oil company and the members of the city council and city attorney of Huntington Beach conferred Tuesday on the lawsuit now pending relative to ownership of the beach at Huntington Beach and its condemnation by the city.

The conference, which was of a friendly character, did not bring about an agreement as the dismissal of litigation, but it was decided that the parties to the suit would hold another conference within the next few days. It is expected that these conferences will bring about an agreement as to the acquisition of the beach by the city and that the litigation will be terminated and the matter settled out of court to the satisfaction of all parties. No definite date was set for the next conference but it is expected to be held probably during the present week.

WALTER SORENSEN TO HEAD
SOUTHLAND BUILDERS' UNIT

Walter F. Sorensen, president of the Orange County Builders' Exchange, was honored recently when he was chosen president of the Builders' Exchange conference of Southern California at a meeting held in Santa Monica. Nine exchanges in Southern California were represented at the meeting, at which time the organization was formed. The object of forming the Conference of Exchanges is to better building conditions in this section and to recommend action to the state organization. The next meeting of the new organization will be held at Irvine Park on July 9.

PRENTICE SAYS
MOHR CHARGES
ARE UNFOUNDED

Denial of the claims set forth in a damage action filed several months ago by William G. and Isabella V. P. Mohr against J. E. Prentice and Josiah A. Crawford, was contained in an answer, filed by the defendants yesterday afternoon. The action was based on an alleged forcible entry by the defendants of the property on East First street last February, which the plaintiffs were occupying and which had been sold to the defendants under a trust deed foreclosure.

The Mohrs had charged that the defendants broke down a door to gain entry to the property, then used force in ejecting them from the premises, injuring both of them, and had caused their personal property to be loaded into trucks and carted away. The answer declares that Mrs. Mohr superintended the loading of the property on trucks and that no request was made for them to cease the loading operations.

Denial is made by the defendants that they had a large club or used it to threaten the plaintiffs; that they struck Mrs. Mohr with a brass curtain rod or kicked or struck Mohr or threw him down; that they pushed Mrs. Mohr; that Mohr was damaged in the sum of $2000; that Mrs. Mohr was damaged in the sum of $10,000; that the plaintiffs are entitled to $15,000 exemplary damages; that they converted the personal property of the plaintiffs; that the household effects were of the value of $15,000 or any sum in excess of $100.

The assertion is made in the denial that while all parties were in the house together on the day of the trouble, Mrs. Mohr called Prentice a "dog" and a "cur"; that she screamed at him and spat upon him; and that she pushed her person against his and said "Strike me! Strike me if you dare!"

The answer sets forth the assertion that Prentice obtained the property on a foreclosure sale on February 7, 1931, and that the plaintiffs had personal property in

NEED OF FLOOD CONTROL WORK
TOLD BY MEANS

Importance of flood control work in Orange county and necessity for immediate action along these lines has been pointed out by a second member of the board of three engineers which filed a report on flood control and water conservation with the board of supervisors last month.

This word was contained in a letter from Thomas H. Means, consulting engineer, of San Francisco, which was read to the board during its afternoon session yesterday. The letter also expressed appreciation for the resolution of thanks which recently was adopted by the supervisors and forwarded to members of the board of engineers.

Previously G. A. Elliott, chairman of the board of engineers, had stressed emphatically the flood menace which the county faces and the necessity for immediate action toward protection.

In his letter to the supervisors, Means said:

"I hope that the report will result in flood control work, for it is greatly needed in Orange county and should not be delayed."

The building, located at the intersection of Third and Forest avenues, is of mission type and designed by Architect Aubrey St. Clair to conform in style to the office of the Laguna Beach County Water district, which is next to it to the east.

ASKS BOARD TO SUPPORT SWING
BILL ON WATER

A request from Francis Cutler, president of the Water Conservation association, which has been supported by Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, that the supervisors of Orange county join supervisors of Riverside and San Bernardino counties in urging Gov. James Rolph to sign senate bill No. 51, which provides for an appropriation of $400,000 for flood control work on the upper Santa Ana river, met an indifferent reception by the board yesterday.

Members of the board declared that while the measure had been amended to meet the approval of Orange county, they had not asked passage of the bill and were not particularly interested in whether it was passed or not. The bill makes an appropriation of state money amounting to $200,000 each biennium for a period of two bienniums, provided the state money is matched by local appropriations.

Amendments to the bill secured by Orange county representatives call for approval of expenditures by the boards of supervisors of Orange and Riverside counties as well as San Bernardino county. The measure is one that was introduced by Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino county and originally applied only to San Bernardino county.

Senate bill No. 362, which was enacted in the closing rush and which provided for formation of flood control and flood water conservation districts on petitions to boards of supervisors, and which also was amended at the request of Orange county officials so that any districts formed under the act could affect only one county, provides the machinery for spending the money appropriated in bill No. 51, it was said by members of the board yesterday during the discussion of the matter.

Las Meninas Members Spend Week-end at Laguna Beach

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins, at Laguna Beach furnished a delightful setting for the house party given this past week-end by the daughters of the home, Miss Ruth Collins, for members of Las Meninas, Santa Ana junior college organization.

The girls gathered at the Collins home Saturday morning, and shortly adjourned to the beach, where swimming, cards, and all manner of beach sports occupied the all-too-short day. In the evening a beautiful supper was served in the dining room of the home, and marshmallows were toasted over the blazing coals of the fireplace. Following the supper hour, the group adjourned to the dance at Laguna, concluding the affair with a midnight supper served to members and their guests in the Collins home.

Sunday was again made a frolic day on the beach. At noon a delectable luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. Collins. This social affair took the place of the regular meeting. It followed a meeting held in the home of Miss Rosalind Schilling, 515 Orange avenue, when costumes for the Fiesta party were made. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will convene, Monday evening, May 31, in the home of Miss Elma Clara Hymer, in San Clemente. Members present at Laguna over the week-end, included the hostess, Miss Ruth Collins, the advisors, Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker, and Catherine Harwood, Catherine Walbridge, Demaris Sears, Lorna Allen, Neva McDonald, Florence Stanley, Hazel Hunsman, Ames McKinstry, Eugene Gire, Esther Romoff, Priscilla Watson, Clara Hymer, Elizabeth Hurd, Rosalind Schilling and Miriam Samuelson, members.

Pretty Bridal Shower Is Compliment to Newly-weds

The romance of their recent wedding in Yuma, Ariz., seemed to irradiate the charming party given for Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Baxter, when their friends assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Baxter in Tustin, for an enjoyable evening on the bridal theme.

Several of the guests contributed to the musical program which opened the evening. Arden Murray playing two piano solos, "Indian Love Call" by Fritz, and "Tam O'Shanter" by Warren; Mrs. C. E. Smith singing "Mother Machree," and Margaret Baxter concluding the musicals with the piano number, "Libertine" by Liszt and "Chopin's Revolutionary Etude."

An interesting contest followed in which booklets whose bindings showed pictures of brides and grooms, were distributed among the guests together with various pictures to be pasted to place on the blank leaves. "Our Home and Its Surroundings," "Our In-Laws," "Things We Purchased for the Living Room," and "The Family" were among the title pages, and the completed booklets were presented to the bride and groom.

A large basket decorated in lavender and yellow and laden with intriguing packages was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Baxter by Gavin Baxter, with the overflow packages carried in by Margaret, Marian and Bobby Baxter. The packages proved to contain useful and beautiful gifts for the new home.

The evening was completed by the serving of ice cream and cake to the guests who included in addition to the happy newlyweds, Mrs. S. A. Griffin and son, Harold, of San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Pruett, of Long Beach; Gertrude Kaun, Oscar Area, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Harlin, Mrs. George Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coffman, Mrs. F. C. Prunty and daughter, Elaine; Mrs. Ethel McIntire and Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Baxter, Marian and Bobby, of Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams, of this city, George Stinson, "The singing con," and Judge John Landell of San Juan Capistrano, spent Monday in Los Angeles where Mr. Stinson gave a concert.

Mrs. J. A. Wilkes, East Santa Clara avenue, who has been confined to her home with illness for the past week, is much improved. Mrs. Marie Spang and Charles Benstatter, of Tiffin, O., spent two days recently with Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Pankey and sons, Edgar and Bobby, of Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thompson, 1109 Kilson drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Eyster, Tustin, spent the week-end at Big Bear lake.

Mrs. Stewart Last and daughter and son, Mary Lucille and Carl, San Marino, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilkes, East Santa Clara avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Baumgartner have returned to their home at 1718 North Main street, after a few days spent at the Baumgartner ranch at Ramona near San Diego.

Mrs. Marshall Northcross Jr. had as a recent guest in her home at 2091-2 West Tenth street, Miss Frances J. Emmons of Los Angeles.

Mrs. James Briggs of Hollywood, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brackett of this city, was resting comfortably today following an operation for appendicitis which took place Monday morning in St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Briggs' little son, James Kenneth Briggs, 21 months old, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Brackett in their home, 410 Richland avenue.

Wrycende Maegden Members Choose New Officers

Of exceptional import was the meeting of the Wrycende Maegden club of the Y. W. C. A. held last evening in the Y. W. rooms when election of officers for the next year took place; a handkerchief shower for Miss Nancy Elder, club advisor, was held, and reports from Asilomar were given.

Following the report of the nominating committee, composed of the Misses Charlene Swartz, Carol Erskine and Charlotte Harnols, Miss Audrey Chastain was elected the new president of the club. Those chosen to serve with Miss Chastain were Miss Margaret Gaebe, vice president; Miss Lucille Bernmann, secretary; Miss Mabel Miller, treasurer; Miss Mabel Wilkinson, finance chairman; Miss Betty Wiswall, service committee; Miss Katherine Spicer, social chairman; Miss Gertrude Jentges, membership chairman, and Miss Beulah Dudgeon, program chairman. Miss Dorothy Dresser presided over the meeting.

As Miss Elder will leave this week for a tour of Europe which will cover several months, girls surprised her with a handkerchief shower. Miss Elder, Miss Beulah Dudgeon, Miss Dresser and Miss Mildred Calkins gave interesting accounts of their days at Asilomar, illustrating their talks with literature on the camp.

Miss Elder announced that there will be a meeting of members of the old and new cabinets of the club this evening at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. rooms. Mrs. E. C. Collier has consented to act as club advisor during Miss Elder's absence.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Westminster Guild
Members of the Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian church and their mothers renewed their pledges the past week at an impressive candle-lighting service held following the mothers and daughters banquet in the church parlors.

At 6 o'clock the repast was served at tables decorated with many flowers. Yellow candles glowed at mothers' places, while tapers in varying hues marked other places. Mrs. A. M. McDermott was toastmistress for the evening, introducing Miss Dorothy Johnson who gave a welcome. Mrs. Young responded on the part of the mothers.

YOU and your Friends

The candle-lighting service was read by Winifred Ball, Eunice Hoffman, Hazel Berge, Betty Hawk, Nellie Stratton, Mary Anna Baxter and Mary Louise Neidergall. Sally Lee Scates sang "Mother" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong. A reading, "The Parable of the Good Seed," was given by Miss Vivian Rogers, after which Miss Evelyn Grisel played a piano solo.

A play, "Within the Circle," concluded the program, and was given by members of the junior class of the guild. During a short business session plans were made for the June meeting to be held at Corona del Mar.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Julia Lathrop
A beautiful installation service was conducted this week by Mrs. Hugh Neighbour at the meeting of the Julia Lathrop P.-T. A. held in the music room of the school. Mrs. Neighbour is past president of the Santa Ana City Council P.-T. A.

Officers installed were Mrs. Myrtle Belcher, president; Mrs. Iva Webber, vice president; Mrs. J. F. Was, second vice president; Mrs. J. G. Shanefelt, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Wetherell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. E. Snyder, treasurer; Mrs. S. H. Bradley, historian, and Mrs. E. Gammell, parliamentarian.

Mrs. M. E. Geeting, retiring president, was presented with a P.-T. A. past president's ring by members of her board. She presided during the short business session held, at which time reports were given from the various committees. Mrs. G. E. Marston gave the treasurer's report, Mrs. Webber told of the welfare fund, and Mrs. V. L. Clem presented the scrap book for the year, as this was the last meeting to be held.

Mrs. W. D. Wallace was in charge of the program for the day. Robert Forcey gave violin selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Maxine Bryte. Mrs. Geeting followed with a reading, "When the Children Grew Up."

Miss Edith Cornet sang two numbers, "In an Old Fashioned Garden," and "The Banjo Song." She, too, was accompanied by Mrs. Bryte. With the conclusion of the afternoon light refreshments were served.

Tustin Players Booked For Irish Comedy in Ebell Auditorium

"Nora, Wake Up," an Irish comedy-drama by Lillian Mortimer, is to be presented in Ebell auditorium Thursday evening by a cast of players from Tustin, who have been training under the direction of Estelle Card Thomas of this city. Women of the Santa Ana First Presbyterian church are acting as sponsors for the event with any funds above actual expenses, to go to the church treasury.

The play is said to be very entertaining, and those who have seen rehearsals in Tustin grammar school, have declared that the work of the cast as a whole, is very pleasing. The role of Nora is to be played by Mrs. Bob Ferrell, while her faithful suitor, "Dunne," is to be enacted by Hugh Plumb.

"Mrs. Edmontson," an ultra-modern mother, will be played by Mrs. J. U. Vlau who has taken active part in many successes of Santa Ana Community Players. The part of "Mrs. Edmontson's" son, "Edmond Edmontson," the villain of the play, will be taken by Phil Brooks. Other important parts will be played as follows: "Mrs. Peggy Callahan," the jolly Irish mother of "Nora," Mrs. R. L. Stearns; "Johnny," her son, Robert Goetting; "Carlyle Colridge," Phil C. Brooks and "Katie," the obliging neighbor, Mrs. Guy Christian.

This will be the second presentation of the comedy by this cast under Mrs. Beaman's direction, the first time having been at a benefit performance in Tustin for the Tustin P.-T. A. At that time it attracted such favorable attention that the cast was asked to repeat the play for a larger audience.

It is believed that the play will have particular interest in Santa Ana, as the cast and director are so well known here, and especially since the Tustin group is contemplating the formation of a Community Players' association similar to the Santa Ana association.

Musical features between acts to add to the evening's entertainment. W. G. Axworthy, well-known cellist of the community and his orchestra will give selections, most of which will be Irish melodies. A dance, "The Irish Washerwoman," appropriate to the Irish theme of the evening will be presented by Hazel Reyce Gowdy and Amanda Bartlett, accompanied on the violin by James A. McCarthy. Songs of old Ireland will be given by Edward Rogers.

Hostess Trio Presides At Ebell Section Meeting

Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. H. J. Plumb and Mrs. Cood Adams were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the First Book Review section of Ebell society held in the home of Mrs. Adams on Tustin avenue.

The program for the day was presented by Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, who gave a concise and illuminating review of Joseph Hergesheimer's latest book, "The Lime-stone Tree." About 35 members were present to share in the interesting meeting, which was concluded when the hostess trio served light refreshments.

During the short business meeting plans were made for the June meeting.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Book Review section members of the Business and Professional Women's club will meet Friday night at 7:30 with Mrs. John A. Tessimann, 309 East Seventeenth street. Mrs. Tessmann will review "Years of Grace" by Margaret Ayer Barnes, the Pulitzer prize winning novel for the current year. Miss Martha Whitson will be chairman of the refreshments committee composed of Miss Lena Thomas, Miss Vanche Plumb and Miss Effie White.

Fraternal Brotherhood members will hold a covered dish dinner on Friday night at 7 o'clock in Knights of Columbus hall. Initiation of candidates will follow during the lodge session. The Juniors will meet at 5:30 o'clock in the same hall for a covered dish dinner followed by a business meeting and initiation.

Richland Avenue M. E. Aid society members are planning an all-day meeting and picnic in Irvine park for Friday. Each one attending will be expected to add a prepared dish to the dinner menu to be served at noon. Members wishing transportation to the park are asked to meet at the church at 10 o'clock a. m.

Announcement has been made of the annual spring recital in which Earl Fraser, well-known Santa Ana piano artist and teacher, will present his advanced pupils on Friday night in Ebell auditorium. This program, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, will be open to the general public. Douglas Beattie, Los Angeles, base-heritone, who created such a favorable impression at the final Cantando club concert of the season when he sang a solo group, will assist as guest artist.

The Altar Guild of the Church of the Messiah will have a musical Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Harry Spencer, 2351 North Park boulevard. A Spanish comedy will be given under the direction of Mrs. Robert Horn. Miss Lorene Croddy and Frank Lansdown will sing, accompanied at the piano by Duncan Harnols. There will be a whistling solo by Cleland Ebermann. Refreshments will be served, and a silver offering will be taken.

The Southwest section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. F. J. Hershiser, 1137 South Van Ness avenue. Members are requested to bring material suitable for quilt blocks.

The unemployment problem will be discussed further tomorrow evening between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Miss Margaret Livingston will lead the discussion. The public is cordially invited to attend.

There will be a Y. W. C. A. membership luncheon Friday noon in the Y. W. rooms. As this is the next to the last meeting before fall, it is expected that an unusually large number of members and friends will attend. Reservations should be made by tomorrow noon at the Y. W. A program is planned to follow the luncheon, and all members and others interested are invited to attend.

Orange Sherbet

In making sherbets in the mechanical refrigerators, my experience has been that sufficient stirring during the time the sherbet is freezing to the mush stage, will produce a really creditable grade of sherbet. Here is the recipe for orange sherbet, promised yesterday.

Orange Sherbet

1 cup heavy cream
2 egg whites whipped stiff
2 egg yolks
1 cup powdered sugar
1-2 cups orange juice
- tablespoon lemon juice
Few drops of fresh bruised mint
2 tablespoons angelica silvers.

In two separate bowls beat very stiff both cream and egg whites. Add the sugar to the beaten yolks, then orange juice, and have the other three ingredients ready to use. Mix in this order: slowly whip the sweetened orange juice into the whipped cream, then fold and whip in the dry beaten egg whites. Follow with the lemon juice, mint juice, and angelica, turn into the freezing pan and place in the freezing chamber. Stir up so that the liquid part is kept well up to the top during the early stages of freezing.

When fresh mint is not obtainable mint extract can be used, but use it with discretion. About three drops will be plenty. Candied fruit, even seeded raisins, could be substituted for the angelica.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Crabmeat Cheese Hollandaise
In Puff Pastry Cases
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon pepper
Paprika and cayenne as desired
3 cups milk
1 cup grated cheese
Juice of 1 lemon
1-2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 large can flaked crabmeat
6 puff pastry cases.
First let me tell you that this cheese hollandaise sauce is the most adaptable sauce you have ever met with: it is delicious with hot asparagus or artichokes, fine for potatoes au gratin or macaroni, and marvelous for fish dishes.

It can be re-heated by putting it over hot water, and be even better than it was the first day, and that's saying a lot for a cheese sauce. I make it up in quantities and keep it in a covered jar in the refrigerator for emergency use. . . . It served as a Cheese Rabbit for a late supper not long ago!

Melt butter, blend with flour, add the milk and stir until cooked to a smooth sauce. Put this sauce into a double boiler, add the cheese and stir until it has melted into the sauce. To the egg yolks add the dry mustard, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Whip well and add it, drop by drop, to the cheese sauce, whipping the sauce with the egg beater almost constantly. The egg yolks cook very quickly, so draw the vessel away from the fire as soon as the whipping is over, taste and add whatever cayenne you wish, drop in the flaked crabmeat and cover until ready to serve.

Heat the puff pastry cases piping hot, fill with the crabmeat mixture allowing enough to partially surround the outside of the case. A crisp flavorful salad should be served for contrast.

Each pastry shell and its portion of sauce and crabmeat is worth 450 energy-making calories. . . . of course there are a few protein calories in here but the whole works is lost in the delectable flavors of the dish.

School Friends Asked To Share Birthday Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Peck of North Hathaway street, complimented their daughter, Miss Corinne Frances Peck, at a pleasant birthday surprise on Saturday evening, staging the party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Browning, 524 South Flower street.

All the merry features that contribute to a party's success were included in the plans, with games, music and refreshments. Miss Corinne was presented with a number of pretty gifts by the young guests who included her schoolmates and other close friends.

As the evening drew to a close, Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Browning served dainty refreshments which included a pretty birthday cake.

Sharing the merry party with the honor guest were the Misses Vivian Switzer, Helen Switzer, Gertrude Chapman, Phyllis Gerard, Gladys Gross, Jean Rowland, Betty Browning and Grace Peck, together with a group of lads who included William Gerard, Philip Gerard, Cleland Harbaugh, Eric Twist, Donald Abbott, Howard Sutherland, Charles Morgan, Elmer Wray and Eddie Story.

Celebration Held At Irvine Park

Miss Leola Schroeder presided at a happy affair in celebration of her thirteenth birthday Saturday afternoon, bidding friends to her home at 2227 Lincoln avenue. After opening her many gifts and displaying them to all present, Leola and her mother, Mrs. O. F. Schroeder, escorted their guests to Irvine park.

As most of the girls are in the eighth grade at school, they enjoyed singing their class song en route to the park.
The afternoon was spent in playing various outdoor games. To conclude the affair, the table was spread under the trees near the lake, and decked with pastel-tinted appointments. The tablecloth was pink, while nut baskets and favors were in varying hues. A picnic menu of sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, olives and ice-cream and cake was served. Mrs. Schroeder was assisted at this time by her sister, Miss Helene Kubitz.

Those invited to share the afternoon with Leola were Margaret Monroe, Ruth Greenwood, Dorothy Matz, Mary Crow, Damaris Peck,

JUST A BLOND "MOLL"

Jean Harlow, who plays one of the leading roles in "The Public Enemy," now showing at the Fox West Coast theater.

'PUBLIC ENEMY' IS POWERFUL DRAMA

Gang pictures that have shown Santa Ana during the past several months have favored the gangster, made heroes out of them, but not so in "The Public Enemy," staging a five-day run now at the Fox West Coast theater. The gangster is exposed in this picture, and this fact alone makes "The Public Enemy" one of the best shows of that kind that has ever been seen here.

The picture opens in 1933, in days long before gang rule. It shows two boys, in short pants. It shows their environments in the poorer section of a large city. They are tough youths, mixed up with older men. The scene changes to 1912 then to 1917 and 1920, in each the boys get in trouble a little more until in 1920 they kill a policeman in a running fight.

Then the scene changes again. This time to the present day, when prohibition is the law and beer running is the "racket." The two boys are beer runners-gangsters.

All through the show there is a tender strain when the mother is kept from knowing of the transgressions of her sons and while there is no love interest in the picture, the gangsters have their "molls" and there are several good cabaret scenes.

HARDING

HARDING, May 20.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Arnett was the scene of a party when Mrs. Arnett entertained for her daughter, Oletta, on her birthday anniversary. Marigolds and roses decorated the home, with the color scheme carried out in pink and green. After an exciting evening of games, refreshments were served to the following: Katherine Trakki, Elizabeth Bressel, Lena Arliso, Ruth Green, Joyce Sattler, Dorothy Winney, Arlene and Margaret Perry, Charles Peters, John Cook, Robert Newton, Concha Flores, Tom Harris, Otto Trapp, Dick Evans, and their teacher, Mrs. Evans; Mr. and Mrs. J. Arnett and children, Junior, Jean and Evelyn; Lynn and Jack Arnett; Mr. and Mrs. King, of Long Beach, grandparents of Oletta, and the hosts and honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schadick and son, Albert, of Orange avenue, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Grauer, of Anaheim.

Those who saw the play will recall the story of the song writer who falls in love with an heiress only to discover at the rehearsal of their wedding that the girl is marrying him only as an "experiment" and expects to divorce him after the new "thrill" has worn off. The contrast in the two social classes is well brought out while the unexpected climax gives the tale an added punch.

JOANE GAYLORD, EDDIE MAHONEY ARE FEATURED

The Fox West Coast theater tonight stages its first summer advertising and fashion show, to be one of the regular features for Wednesday night during the next 10 weeks. The stage show is in addition to the regular feature program, which is "The Public Enemy."

Joane and Eddie's Adver show is being staged by Joane Gaylord, pretty little blond actress, now residing in Santa Ana and Eddie Mahoney, comedian, who will be remembered here as the star comedian for the Merchant's Fiesta. The adver show has nothing to do with the Eddie's Adver show that played in Santa Ana several months ago.

Songs and dances, a line of girls, specialties and comedy will feature the program on the stage, and valuable prizes are to be given to the audience from the stage. A number of Santa Ana merchants are co-operating in the adver show, including Foster Barker, Neal Sporting Goods Store, Excelsior Creamery, Grand Central Market, Peterson's Grocery, William Lorenz, Sam Hurwitz, Neely's, The Sample Shop and Swanbergers, together with a number of others.

The stage show will start about 8 o'clock each Wednesday evening.

After an absence of more than six months, Norma Shearer returns to the screen in "Strangers May Kiss," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, which is now playing at the Fox Broadway theater.

Adapted from the best-seller by Ursula Parrott, the new Shearer picture presents a daring vista of modern life with the star enacting the glamorous role of a young woman, mocking conventions, who takes what she wants only to find her happiness a hollow one when the man with whom she elopes so blithely tells her he already has a wife. Neil Hamilton is the man in the case and shares leading man honors with Robert Montgomery, the heroine's devoted admirer, always waiting and wanting her back again.

George Fitzmaurice directed the film with skill and subtlety. The supporting cast includes Marjorie Rambeau, Irene Rich, Conchita Montenegro, Hale Hamilton, Jed Prouty and Albert Conti.

Miss Shearer is splendid in the difficult role and achieves a greater performance, in this reviewer's opinion, than in her triumphant "The Divorcee."

Danger in accepting unknown substitutes for Kotex

WHEN substitution may endanger health, beware! When considering a substitute for Kotex, pause. Ask yourself: "What do I know of the hygiene of this sanitary pad? Who made it? Where?"

These questions remain unanswered when you accept a substitute of whose makers you know nothing. Yet they must be answered for your safety.

The answer, of course, is Kotex. Always Kotex. Then you're safe. Kotex is made in hospital-like surroundings. More than ten million Kotex pads were used by hospitals last year. This assurance of safety is beyond price.

Kotex is adjustable. Shaped to fit. May be worn on either side with safety.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAI COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

At first the mule was very tame and Clowny shouted, "It's a shame that we can't ride much faster. I would almost rather walk." "Oh, give the lazy thing a chance," said Scouty. "He's too tired to prance. You're always saying foolish things, when'er you start to talk."

But Clowny wasn't satisfied. He craved a rather speedy ride and loudly shouted, "Hey! Giddyap." And then he jerked the reins. The mule was startled. Up he jumped, and down the road the queer cart thumped. "You're going to have some trouble, now," cried Carpy, "for your pains."

They soon found out that he was right. The small mule ran with all his might. And then he started kicking both his hind legs in the air. "Hang on! Hang on!" cried Scouty. "Geel! I fear 'twill be the end of me. The mule is going crazy 'cause you've given him a scare."

"Aw, don't you fret! I'll tame him down, as sure as I'm a Tiny clown," said Clowny. Then he pulled the reins until they were real tight. This seemed to have the right effect. The mule stopped ere the cart was wrecked. "Hurray for you," cried Conpy. "And thank goodness we're all right!"

Back to the Travel Man they went and very shortly they were sent upon another little trip that took them through a gate. The Travel Man had told them he would wait while they went out to see the monstrous, winding China Wall. Said he, "You'll think it great."

Outside the wall they found a lad who promptly said, "Hello! I'm glad to meet you little visitors." And then he pointed high, and said, "That is the wall right there. See how it towers in the air! The sight was so impressive that it made the Times sigh."

(The Tinymites watch some queer irrigating in the next story.)

Hideo Higashi, Japanese, wisest member of Coach "Doc" Oliver's Saint football team last season, has definitely decided to enroll at junior college here in the fall.

Weak on the ends, Coach Bill Cook's collegians certainly will welcome with open arms this husky little All-Coast wingman.

Higashi knew the assignments for four positions on last year's Saint eleven, and has yet to make his first mistake.

THE NEW FORM OF DEATH PENALTY

California will become one of the few states that has substituted the use of lethal gas, instead of hanging, as the method of executing those sentenced to death, when Governor Rolph signs a provision now before him. One state gives a choice to the victim between hanging and shooting. Most states have adopted the method of electrocution. Hanging has been very generally discarded.

Every method will be offensive to some people. But if we must have a death penalty, the more merciful the means of its execution, the less will be the offensiveness of it. The taking of life under any circumstances is a most serious matter. The law has been very specific. Only deliberate killing calls for the death penalty; and where there is the slightest shadow of a doubt concerning the deliberateness, juries are very apt to acquit, or disagree, or prescribe a lesser penalty. There is a growing sentiment against capital punishment, and it is not at all improbable that in the not distant future it will be abolished as the last relic of the primitive.

Murder is such a serious and irremedial offense, it is so repugnant to our whole being, that men naturally feel that it deserves an extreme penalty. But we can hardly deny that the spirit of vengeance plays a considerable part in the penalty prescribed. In fact, much of our penology is yet marked by an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth motive. We are gradually drifting away from that motive, and we honestly believe that the further we get away from that motive the nearer will we come to a solution for the distressing problem of crime. We are rapidly learning that the deed is not the only phase of the crime committed. What lies behind the deed has come to be increasingly important.

The cruiser Chicago, which is soon to become the flagship of the U. S. fleet, has a black goat named Al Capone for mascot. A black sheep might have been more appropriate.

DOWNING BILLBOARDS

Maintenance crews of the Division of Highways, it was reported in the news yesterday, have begun to pull down illegal signboards erected on California's highway system.

Signs on state land will be uprooted without delay. Also signs erected on private land without the owner's permission, will be removed. This is excellent preparation for the summer tourist.

An argument against sign boards which impressed us was a group of travelers, motoring along the highway which was lined with billboards. Behind the billboards were rolling fields and flowers. Each tourist had an elongated neck from one end of which he strained his head around to survey the landscape.

Mr. Stuart Chase in his new book, "The Nemesis of American Business," in a final chapter describes his idea of Utopia. He arrived at a plan for his Utopia by drawing up two lists, first of those things which "kill the juices of zestful living, and reduce (him) to mere existing" and second, those conditions under which he is alive. In the first list appear ill health, monotonous work with no discernible goal, eating poor food, and eating in ugly places, being looked down upon or laughed at, the defacement of natural beauty with billboards, pop stands, suburban lots, gas tanks, shacks and factories.

A New York woman suggests a "traffic dance" as a means of avoiding death and injury. The only trouble is that it is liable to make a "hit" with the motorists.

GEORGE F. BAKER'S ESTATE

It has come as a great surprise to the public that the estate left by the late George F. Baker was less than $70,000,000. His estate was estimated before his death to be in the vicinity of $500,000,000. Actually, it probably did amount to the larger figure. But the tendency of rich men to avert the large inheritance tax, leads them to put a great part of their fortune out of their hands before their death. The law of the state of New York, in which Mr. Baker died, as well as of many other states, provides that property placed in other hands less than two years before death or in anticipation of death comes under the provisions of the inheritance tax. It is now known that some two years ago Mr. Baker transferred a large share of his property to his son. Obviously this was done to escape the inheritance tax.

Every legal effort to break up great fortunes on the death of those in possession of them has failed. So jealous are those who possess wealth of their right to dispose of it in such manner as they please, rather than have the money revert to society, from which much of it has been withdrawn, that every legal expedient is resorted to to escape the law. This is quite natural. It grows up out of our conception of property, and the general belief that what we have legally obtained should not legally be taken away from us before or after death. So long as that idea continues to be the honest opinion of men, so long will men seek to dispose of their property as they will. We all do it. And we should not blame a man like Mr. Baker too much for doing what most of us would do.

Only the growing conviction among the people in general that we have no right to control anything after we pass from the earthly sphere will make possible an effective inheritance tax. There is a growing feeling against perpetual foundations, as Julius Rosenwald pointed out in a recent magazine article. And this same feeling will in time recognize the wisdom of parceling out to society an estate which the deceased man naturally can no longer control.

NOW CHINA DOES IT

It will not be long now before that many-syllabled word "extraterritoriality" will be less frequently used than it is now. One after another of the so-called "barbarous" nations to which we and the European nations denied the right to deal out justice to our citizens have freed themselves from that restriction. What they could not get by treaty and negotiation, they have gotten by renunciation. First it was Japan that claimed sovereignty within her borders over all, native or foreigner, who lived there. Much later, and after disastrous defeat, Turkey renounced the right of foreign powers to set up consular courts within its territory. For a number of years China tried by negotiation to abrogate the extraterritorial restrictions, and failing to bring the European nations and our own to an agreement, she cast it off by an edict, and as much as said, "What are you going to do about it?"

Well, we predict that nothing will be done about it, any more than anything was done when Turkey defied the powers a few years ago. The day of gunboat coercion is over. Even the poor and unsettled countries of Haiti, and Nicaragua, and other small Central American states are resenting the big brother counsels that are offered by our government; and Secretary Stimson has wisely declared that the day of such intervention is over.

It is quite possible that the time may come when our government will have to intercede or intervene in behalf of its citizens unjustly treated by unstable governments. But it will not be in connection with a perpetual demand such as extraterritoriality provided. It will be by the processes of diplomatic negotiation when the necessity arises. And we cannot believe that any of the nations which have shaken off this usurpation of their sovereignty will refuse to do justice by the citizens of another nation when approached through the channels of diplomacy.

The world moves on, and the self-respect of nations asserts itself. And we venture to say that there will be less trouble between these countries under the new relations than there was under the old. Marines and gunboats may not be as effective as faith that justice will be done when the responsibility is squarely placed.

Hail to Quail, Now State Bird

Pasadena Star-News

The California Legislature has done one thing of general sentimental interest throughout the state—the valley quail has been designated as the official state bird. The bill to make this designation was introduced into the Assembly by Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller of Pasadena. The measure passed the Assembly, went through the Senate by a big majority and is assured that Governor Rolph will sign the measure.

The valley quail is indeed a beautiful bird and quite typical of all parts of the state. The mountain quail, perhaps, is a bit more brilliant in appearance than its valley cousin. But the valley quail is more thoroughly representative of all parts of the state. It is fitting that an innocent, harmless bird, which does not prey upon other animals for its living, should be California's state bird. Take the American eagle, for instance—the national bird. The criticism has been heard that the eagle is a bird of prey, also that it is, in a measure, a cowardly bird, and as cruel as cowardly. These traits, of course, are not typical of the government and people of the United States. The American eagle, in the popular conception of it, is a noble bird, and quite fittingly represents the nation.

Some might question the appropriateness of choosing the valley quail as the state bird for California. Some might prefer the mockingbird. Others, a bit utilitarian and also a bit appreciative, would designate the good old hen as California's official bird. It is true that the hen adds far more to the wealth of the state than the quail—for the quail is accused of being a destructive little rascal in gardens and grain fields, while the hen dutiful and serviceable, lays her wealth at the feet of her master. However, let the valley quail, feathery beautiful bird, wear its queenly crown as California's official bird.

Hail to Queen Quail!

Air Cooled Travel

New York Times

Train travel in the heat of midsummer is no paradise. In Japan its discomforts are sometimes mitigated by a courteous porter who comes around with a basket of hot towels, on which the honorable tourist may wipe his face and find a surprising degree of refreshment. In America, where hot towels are confined to barber shops, travelers have hitherto had no such solace.

The Baltimore and Ohio is about to try the experiment of keeping its patrons cool and comfortable even when the sun and cinders are doing their worst. Beginning next week, the Columbian, running between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, will be equipped throughout—lounge, observation car, dining car, parlor cars and coaches—with an up-to-date air-purifying system, the first of its kind to be installed on any railroad.

The apparatus not only regulates the temperature of the air but also purifies it, cleansing it of all particles of dust and controlling its humidity. Other railroads are certain to watch the experiment with keen interest.

Another Wild Gusher That's Hard to Tame!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WHEN THE GULLS ARRIVED

We wonder at the shining sky,
We marvel at the sea,
But who is there to tell us why
They ever came to be?
A million years the ocean roared
At every wind's behest,
But not a single sea-gull soared
Above its rolling breast,
And why these scorners of the deep,
In coats of white and gray,
Across the billows skim and sweep
I just found out today.

One time, when all the sea was still
And skies were warm and fair
Some flying fish, to get a thrill,
Sailed far up in the air,
And shortly met with heavy gales,
Which sailors often meet,
That blew to feathers all their scales—
Their fins to trailing feet.
No more in the abysses dim
Could they dive, deep and free,
For after that they had to swim
The surface of the sea.

And when today, a flock, like foam
That scurries toward the sky
Above the fishes' briny home,
You happen to spy
And watch it whirl and turn and swirl
Above the waters dull,
You'll know it for a flying fish
That's going to be a gull.
This is no fable of the deep
That I am telling you,
A child, beside me now asleep,
Has told me it is true!

Taking the Cure

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Prices fell precipitately," says Mr. Jernigan. "With this fall in prices, distress and desolation extended over the land, and millions of people who had supposed themselves on the high road to wealth suddenly found poverty staring them in the face, while exacting creditors on all sides demanded the liquidation of debt. Depression and a sense of adversity naturally followed. Bankruptcies became common, and misery was everywhere present."

This sounds like an account of what happened last year in the United States. It is not. It is an account of deflation in Japan, immediately following the inflation of 1881. It describes what has always happened, everywhere, whenever any country has allowed the money in circulation to dwindle and prices to collapse.

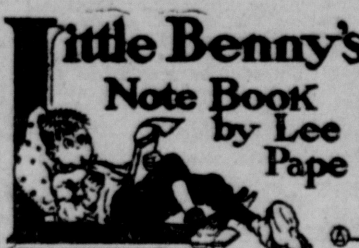

Whenever money is created much faster than goods, prices rise, and there is an outcry against the "high cost of living." But the remedy is worse than the disease. Deflation does not reduce the real cost of living. It does reduce the dollar cost of living, but it reduces the dollar income faster still. Right now the whole world is finding that out to its sorrow—the whole silly world, which has learned the lesson over and over again to no purpose.

Deflation is not a cure for inflation. Our muscles may be sore from climbing Mt. Hood, but we gain no relief from the descent; only more sore muscles.

Eagerness for lower prices is natural; but lower prices are no benefit when—as in the United States today—the currency is deflated and basic production is reduced thirty per cent. For no matter what happens to wages or prices people cannot buy any more than they produce.

No wise nation will ever accept a prolonged period of falling prices as a deliberate economic policy. Yet the United States has done precisely that. No adequate measures have yet been taken to nullify the forces of depression. We are still taking deflation as a cure for inflation and getting no better rapidly.

This afternoon I went a errand for ma and there was a quarter change and I went up to her room to give it to her and she was sewing on her sewing machine, saying, Have you got my change, Benny?

Yes mam, I sed.
And I felt in my pants pocket and it wasn't there and I quick I wasn't anywhere, me thinking, Heck good nite G.

And I started to feel all over again with the same empty effect, and ma sed, Benny, did I ask you to give me my change?

No mam, you just asked me if I had it, I sed, and she sed, Well its 6 of one and a half dozen of the same, you knew what I ment, didn't you?

Yes mam, I sed still feeling, and ma sed, Well then hand it over here without any ifs ands and whatsoevers.

Yes mam, I sed. It was only a quarter, I sed, and she sed, Only a quarter, do you realize that a quarter would keep a whole family in bread for a day?

Well suppose they didnt need bread? I sed still feeling, and ma sed, Then it wouldnt be this family.

Meaning we eat a fearsome lot of bread, and I sed, Well anyways I mean if a person had to lose something it would be much more economical to lose a quarter than a dollar.

Nobody ever has to lose anything if their careful, ma sed, and I sed, Do you think if I had a quarter in my pocket and practiced standing on my hands against a wall, do you think it nite fall out.

My lands is that what youve been doing, wheres that quarter instantly? ma sed.

Thoughts On Modern Life

CONSERVING IDEAS

I am about convinced that the most tragic waste of which the human race is guilty is the waste of ideas.

Most of us labor under the delusion that our best thoughts are hammered out in the hurly-burly of the day's work.

We have, therefore, devised elaborate and effective devices for capturing and preserving for later amplification and application the ideas that come to us in the run of analysis and conference at our offices.

We are at our desks. As we ponder papers or match wits with colleagues or competitors, new ideas come to us. We make careful notations of them on the desk pad. A bit later we tell them to our secretaries and direct that they be written out and preserved or referred at once to this or that subordinate for consideration.

But—and here is an important fact—men's most important ideas do not come to them in office hours.

Offices are abominable places in which to execute ideas.

Offices are abominable places in which to evolve ideas.

In the quiet of one's library, when the compulsion of routine seems far away!

Motoring into the country, when one's mind seems to be on spark-plugs and scenery but is really busy with broad issues that are crowded out by detailed duties in the office!

Reverie rather than rush is the soil from which our best ideas sprout.

But most of us have no system for preserving the fruits of reverie.

The other day one of my secretaries burrowed into a pile of papers that had accumulated for five years in a document room just off my library; a thousand and one scraps of paper with scribbled notes had been thrust into an old chest. The secretary sought to classify these random notations, clippings, and so on. And as I ran through them I came upon happy inspirations, fresh ideas, plans that seem original and promising, references to books I should long since have read; I was impressed by the fact that this old chest had for five years been the repository of, perhaps, the best thinking I had done during that period. But I had never taken seriously these fruits of reverie; they were casual notes casually made and still more casually thrown into the old chest from time to time.

I know now why H. G. Wells never lets an idea slip through his fingers. A scratch pad is always by his bed. If a lone idea comes to him straightaway he sets it down. If an integrated train of thought comes to him, he arises from bed, regardless of the hour, sets to work. As a result, it is said, he has ideas enough at hand to keep him busy for 150 years.

Some system for snaring the casual thoughts and keeping them in the current and continuous stream of one's thinking is important—for business man as well as for writer.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE JOY TIME

There is a time in the life of each child when there is joy in learning some special thing. Each step in growth has its time allotted. If we catch that time by its forelock and do the teaching, the child knows the joy of learning. He overflows with happiness at his success. He is tireless in his efforts. Let the joy season go by and learning for that special department of knowledge, becomes a pain. I cannot believe that painful learning is ever as high in quality or as great in depth as the knowledge gained in the joy time.

Little children learn to read with joy in the early school years, along about the time when they are five and six. It is easy to get them to read them. They love to find new words, make new sounds, hear and tell new stories, add to their vocabulary and their library. But let those years pass without the instruction and learning to read, and the joy time is lost. The joy time for grammar comes in the early high school years. The joy time for language is in the first five or six or seven years.

When you find that a child has difficulty in learning a subject look first to see if it is past the joy time. If it is, change the method of approach to meet the stage of growth of the child. Often, a new method of attack will bridge the difficulty.

Not that I am saying that children ALWAYS like to study their lessons. Normal healthy children rebel against routine every once in a while and then we know that we have not varied the monotony enough, and hasten to put a new hat on the Red Hen. They will go on cheerfully once more when that is accomplished. But if they dwell in complete abstraction while you try to teach, something is wrong. Look for the key to the joy time.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

ALLIED SUCCESSES

On May 20, the British, Russian and French armies made important advances against the Germans.

In the campaign of eastern Europe, the Russians repulsed German attacks east of Kaincem. In the Balkan campaign the Russians also repulsed German attacks on the Rumanian front east of Koverka.

In the Italian campaign, the Italians extended their positions on Hill 652 and broke into Austrian lines east of Gorizia.

In the campaign in western Europe, the British broke into the Hindenburg line on a front of over a mile between Fontaine-les-Croisilles and Bullecourt. The British also occupied several villages in the Somme area, the French seized Jussy, an important railway junction. The Germans retaliated in a measure by taking French trenches on a 216-yard front on the Chemin-les-Dames.

On this day the Imperial War Cabinet met at London.
